

Out of college Josh went to work in his hometown of Cincinnati for Proctor & Gamble as a Systems Analyst. After 3 ½ years staring at a computer and a lot of success at the water cooler Josh decided to pursue his passion of standup comedy. His first time on stage was at his local club Go Bananas and he never looked back.

In 2004, Josh performed at the prestigious “Just For Laugh’s” Comedy Festival in Montreal and made his television debut on Comedy Central’s “Premium Blend”. In 2007, Josh was chosen by Comedy Central to perform in their inaugural South Beach Comedy Festival. Later that year Josh filmed his 30-minute stand-up special, “Comedy Central Presents: Josh Sneed”. In 2008, Josh finished 2nd out of 100 of Comedy Central’s top comedians in the Annual Stand-up Showdown Competition, and released on Comedy Central Records his CD “Unacceptable” which iTunes selected as one of the Top 10 comedy albums released. In 2009, Josh garnered praise from Punchline Magazine for his performance at the Aspen Comedy Festival. He is a favorite of the nationally syndicated “The Bob and Tom Show”, and his comedy is heard regularly on Sirius/XM radio.

Josh is a headliner in standup comedy clubs around the country and has performed at numerous private and corporate events.

He currently resides in Cincinnati with his wife and son and a pug named Jack.
